

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

For State Treasurer, THOMAS S. RIDGWAY, Of Gallatin.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction, WILLIAM B. TOWELL, Of Kane.

For Congress, 14th District, JOSEPH G. CANNON, Of Douglas.

Republican Senatorial and Representative Convention.

The Republicans of Macon and DeWitt counties will meet in delegate convention at Macon, on Tuesday, September 30, 1874.

At 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of nominating one Senator and two Representatives, to represent this district in the State Legislature.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Macon county..... 9 DeWitt county..... 9

W. L. CHAMBERS, Chairman District Committee.

To-morrow the Independent Reformers of this county will meet in convention to nominate candidates for sheriff and coroner, and to select delegates to the senatorial and representative convention. For the office of sheriff the contest promises to be lively, some six or eight reformers being now sitting on "the ragged edge" of fear lest the office, in its mad charging around for victims, should fix its rapacious eye on them. For the office of coroner there will not be much of a struggle, it having been conceded that the "fitness" man for the place is the Niantic prodigal, Wm. Pierson.

We are in receipt of the first number of the Alumni Journal, of Lincoln University, through the kindness of Dr. A. J. Wallace, of this city. The Journal is a handsome octavo of 36 pages, and contains some very choice contributions from the alumni of the university, together with brief biographical sketches of those who have graduated at the institution. Among the contributions is a poem by Dr. Wallace, entitled "Commencement Day."

We are glad to learn that Lincoln University is in a very prosperous condition. Under the presidency of Dr. A. J. McGilghy, who is well known to many of our citizens, the university seems to be on the high road to success, and our Cumberland Presbyterian friends may well congratulate themselves upon the flattering prospects of their institution.

FRANK LESLIE'S Illustrated Weekly, which has contained some pretty sharp caricatures of the Republican party, has the honesty to say: "This much is certain, that at the present time only two parties exist, the Republican and the Democratic, and that the Republican is the stronger and more worthy of the two. The immediate problem for every voter is a question between the candidates of the two organized parties in the autumn elections for Congressmen; and though we have tried hard to discover whether or not a third element will enter into the campaign, we are compelled to believe that one must choose only a Republican or Democrat."

The Memphis Levee (Dem.) has a new and ingenious explanation of the recent Ku-Klux outrages in that State. It says the trouble is principally owing to the fact that the short crops are forcing the leading farmers to discharge their hands, leaving them without any means of support, while the near approach of actual distress is enraging the negroes, and the farmers are unable to give provisions or money. This theory has at least the merit of originality, and possesses the special recommendation of laying the responsibility for the outrage on the negroes. It is a little singular, considering the alleged bloodthirstiness of the negroes, that none but colored men and white Republicans are murdered, but perhaps one peculiarity of the homicidal mania produced by short crops is that it makes men kill themselves and their best friends. Some such supposition as this is necessary to make the theory hold water.

A "straight" Democratic congressional convention has been called in the eleventh congressional district. The Democracy have a clear and undisputed majority in that district, and do not need a union with anybody else to defeat the Republican party there. In such localities they play "a lone hand," and "take the pile" into their own pocket exclusively. In Republican localities only do they show any favor or bestow any aid to the "Independent" nominations.

The exposure of outlawry in Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky has had a wholesome effect on the local authorities. The conviction is gaining ground where it never ought to have been lost, that the night-riders and masked murderers must be put down. When the people themselves make up their minds to do this, we shall have an end of outrages and a restoration of law and order.

A WASHINGTON letter says that the different modes of traveling adopted by different people have an interesting illustration in the practical workings of the measure which was passed in a party conference for the purpose of the salary act. The section provides that in lieu of mileage each Senator, Representative and Delegate shall be entitled to receive his actual traveling expenses to and from Washington once each way for every session of Congress. Of course there is no intimation that the individuals designated might include extras in the bill presented to the government for liquidation, or would in any respect misrepresent the real cost of getting to and from the scene of their labors. And if they did such a small matter would hardly be deemed worth making a fuss about, so that the writer says he only mentions this affair for the purpose of showing the eccentricities of travel. Thus it costs one gentleman $50 to get from Mullico Hill, N. J., to Washington. Just where Mullico Hill may be is not very clear, but we may be assured that gentlemen with large families will not choose it for a summer resort. Mr. Randall, of Philadelphia, was charged $9, and another Representative for the same city $20. The latter undoubtedly had to travel in the night, and pay extra for a sleeping car. Hack drivers and restaurateurs are always more unreasonable than in the day time, and the cost of being a victim of circumstances is thereby illustrated on a small scale, not only in his case, but in the cases of many others in the same list.

The committee of Congress appointed for the purpose at the late session have agreed upon the main features of a form of government for the District of Columbia. Whatever its framers may think of the working of popular suffrage elsewhere, they don't seem to think it is just the same thing for the District, or that it is necessary to illustrate the excellence of self-government at the seat of the National Government. Perhaps these Congressional gentlemen get enough of that sort of thing at home. It is proposed to vest the government of the District in the Cabinet of the United States, each head of department to attend to business of a nature appropriate to his department. What is to be rigidly excluded is the "folly of suffrage." Torrey's Sunday Chronicle, which derives its information from a member of the committee, says the "right, or rather the folly, of suffrage will be abrogated, excepting so far as probably to allow the people to choose a Board of Appraisers or Appeal, to decide questions of assessment on taxes." But it is by no means certain that even this small fragment of self-government will be left to the people.

It seems that yellow fever is not the worst affliction under which the Cuban population labors. The financial disorder is considerably more threatening, and the business pulsations are irregular enough to unsettle an even healthier institution than the Spanish Bank. The tactics which General Concha has employed since reassuming direction of the interests of the island have worked very badly. It is but a few months since his arbitrary decree of concerning the valuation of Spanish paper went into operation, and now gold sells at 340, a rise of 120 in a few days, making the Spanish bank note actually not worth quite thirty cents on the dollar. A supplementary decree has made the duties payable in gold, as it is impossible to fix anything like a standard where a leap of one-half is made in the price of hard money in less than a single week.

HOWEVER strong the arguments that Republicans have been enabled to offer to prove that the mission of that party is not yet ended, the White Leagues of the South have presented still stronger ones. The wholesale murders and the disorder that now reigns in some of the Southern States are but the surface indications of the rebellious spirit that still animates those who but a few years since were in armed rebellion against the government—a spirit that needs but the assurance of Democratic success to burst out into open war again. Until every citizen, be he black or white, Republican or Democrat, is as safe in the South as he is in the North, the Republican party has a mission that no other party can fill.

THE exposure of outlawry in Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky has had a wholesome effect on the local authorities. The conviction is gaining ground where it never ought to have been lost, that the night-riders and masked murderers must be put down. When the people themselves make up their minds to do this, we shall have an end of outrages and a restoration of law and order.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 10.—Judge Edmunds, secretary of the National Republican Congressional Committee, has written a letter to Postmaster Filley, at St. Louis, in regard to the People's party movement in Missouri. The letter is not official, and does not assume to express the views of the committee, though there is no doubt but that a large number of that body approve it. Judge Edmunds says, in substance, that while, as a general rule, he believes in voting the Republican ticket straight, there are exceptions where a different course is proper, and, under present circumstances, he is inclined to believe that the Republicans of Missouri have acted with wisdom; that the first duty of the Republicans is to rescue the State from secession Democratic rule, and the present course, he thinks, gives a fair promise of accomplishing this.

Mr. Geo. Bangs, Superintendent of the Railway Postal Service, has just returned from New York, having partially completed arrangements for an entirely new feature in the distribution of great through mail. The plan embraces mail express trains, run at a maximum speed, carrying only mail cars, and having the right of way under all usual circumstances. These trains are to be put on between such of the principal cities as the demand upon the service will warrant. It is first proposed to try the experiment upon a line between New York and Chicago, and through time is fixed at about twenty-four hours. The officers of the roads south of Cleveland, Ohio, have virtually agreed to receive great through mails south and west via Cincinnati from this train at Cleveland in the evening, and run through on the first train, so as to make Cincinnati by daylight. Mr. Bangs would have completed all arrangements, but was called home suddenly by sickness in his family. Negotiations, however, have proceeded so far as to make it almost certain that exclusive mail trains will soon be put on between some of the large cities.

The list of cities printed as ports at which yellow fever prevailed was really the list prepared including both the ports that were particularly exposed to having the disease brought in by shipping and those at which cases had been reported. Subsequent reports from all points heretofore named represent the fever either as not present or as assuming a very mild form, with cases quite frequent.

The grand jury nearly finished their list of presentments in the safe burglary. One or two witnesses are to be examined to-morrow on minor points, when all the presentments will be made to the court. The general belief about the court-room is that all those whose names have been prominently used in connection with the burglary will be indicted.

The recent action of the Treasury Department in regard to the establishment of precautionary measures against yellow fever at various ports, is not intended to convey the impression that the disease exists anywhere along the Atlantic or Gulf Coast in an epidemic form, but for the purpose of preventing its introduction by ships.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Washington Hising, son of A. C. Hising, of the Staats Zeitung, who has allowed his name to go before the people as candidate for Congress in the First Illinois District, to-day withdrew his candidacy after consultation with personal and political friends, alleging, as reasons, his youth, inexperience in public affairs, and lack of money to carry on the canvass against C. B. Farwell, the present incumbent and candidate for re-election.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The newspapers here publish an official Carlist dispatch, acknowledging that the Royalists fired on the German gun-boats, Albatross and Nautilus, at Guetaria. The dispatch declares that the vessels were endeavoring to effect the landing of armed men under the pretext of exercising their crews, and says the Carlists will recognize no combination of Serrano and his accomplices, but will exact respect for Spanish territory, and will resist the bravado with which Germany sustains the action of her gun-boats.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Ville de Paris, which arrived yesterday from Brest, encountered a terrible hurricane on the voyage, during which the captain's large boat on deck was washed overboard, and the place where it had stood left as though swept by a broom. The port side of the bridge was ground to pieces, and two immense davits were twisted almost in two. A lifeboat was washed overboard and hung from stern davits, beating against the sides of the ship until officers Pickel and LaFrance sprang into the sea, and cut it adrift. Solid teak railings were torn in twigs, heavy brass and iron stanchions twisted in all sorts of shapes. One sailor was washed overboard and lost. Captain Duane, who was standing on the bridge, was hurled by the waves against a post, which alone prevented him from going overboard. He was at first supposed to be fatally injured, but is now slowly recovering. The second officer, LaFrance, had his left arm broken, and several sailors were severely injured. At a meeting of the passengers on the day before arriving in port, resolutions expressive of their gratitude and thanks were voted to Capt. Duane and his gallant officers and crew for their behavior during the fearful storm.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A call for a convention of the Republicans of the reconstructed States, to be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., on October 13, is being widely signed by prominent Republicans, the call says:

"All Republicans, whether of these or other States, who still earnestly seek to maintain the principles on which the Union was defended, and to inaugurate which in the South reconstruction was begun, and who feel an interest in the preservation of law, order, and the rights of citizenship, are invited to attend this consultation. All should come possessed of facts as to the true condition in their respective localities, so that authoritative statement may be made to the country."

ST. PAUL, Sept. 10.—Prof. Winchett, the State Geologist, who accompanied Custer's expedition to the Black Hills, in his official report, after enumerating the minerals he found to exist there says: "The miners accompanying the expedition report finding gold and silver in some of the gulches, though I saw none of the gold, nor did I see any of the auriferous quartz. I have taken the gold reports with a large grain of allowance."

MEMPHIS, Sept. 10.—Douglas Jamison, one of the negroes taken by a mob from the Trenton jail, is here in jail in charge of the U. S. Marshal, who refuses to allow any communication with him, but it is believed that from disclosures made by him, the Deputy U. S. Marshal arrested five men at Pickettville last night, who were concerned in the Trenton affair, and two others, for whom warrants were out, came in and surrendered themselves to the marshal.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Near Hammond, the fire in the woods is under control. Two thousand acres near Egg Harbor have been burned over. The woods on the line of the New Jersey Southern railroad, at Cedar oaks, are burning, and the cranberry bogs have been destroyed near Atsion. The fire is now under control, but the flames still rage two and a half miles to the eastward.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Bush fires are raging in the neighborhood of Tompleton. An immense amount of property has been destroyed for a distance of ten miles square. The country around is blacked and charred. Much of the city of Ottawa is full of smoke from the fires, and ashes fall thickly in the streets.

At the late spiritualist, encampment in western Massachusetts, the president of the convention declared his belief "that within the next eight years spirits will be enabled to materialize sufficiently to stand right out on the platform as tangibly as any one of us, and speak to the multitudes in clear, ringing voices." Now that is what the public wants. The spiritualistic demonstrations to which we have been treated heretofore are far from satisfactory. The haunting of a banjo, the ringing of a bell or the upsetting of furniture in a dark room may be very edifying and convincing to a certain class of minds; but the average searcher after truth craves something a little different and more definite. Let the spirits go on improving themselves. Let them study their strong points. Let them set their inventive genius to work and hasten the day predicted by the enthusiastic professor above quoted when they can march to the front of a platform and, standing before the multitude in visible form, address them in "clear, ringing tones." That will be "business."

There will be no need then to send away for political speakers, for in the absence of ordinary engagements, a score of talented ghosts can be hired to represent the State for their traveling expenses. Money the spirit of Tom Corbin, challenging Gov. Hendricks to a joint debate, and chasing him over the State with a mingled storm of wit, ridicule, anecdote, argument, logic and eloquence. What crowds would turn out to hear the ghosts of Calhoun and Webster discuss the constitutional power of the government to suppress Southern outrages. How strangely it would sound for a preacher to announce that on the next Sunday evening the congregation would be addressed by the Rev. Jonathan Edwards, or the Rev. John Wesley, or brother Luther, or, if not otherwise engaged, by the eminent theologian Paul. The only trouble that occurs to us as likely to ensue from this state of things is that living orators will be entirely neglected for the ghosts of dead ones.—Indianapolis Journal.

MYRON B. ADAMS, of Detroit, is a philosopher. Charles Taylor, of the same city, is not. Observe the difference between the two men. In the absence of Adams, Taylor fell in love with Mrs. Adams, and, anxious to possess her in his own way, as many editions as had been issued, eloped with herself and six children; the eldest a girl of fifteen, capable of choosing for herself. Adams, on returning home, decided to take back his children, as being comparatively decent, and told Taylor that, as his wife was old, weak-minded, and had none too good to bring, he might keep her. The proposition was accepted, and the marriage double and expense saved, to the satisfaction of all parties.

What a man! He eloped in the door of a saloon in Quincy, the other day, and asked the Democratic candidate for sheriff what he wanted?
